J. Pinckney Harrison, Jr., whom some concern has been felt since the Japanese disaster became known is safe and sound at Shanghai. His parents yesterday received a cablegram from Mr. Harrison announcing his safe arrival in the Chinese city where he will remain, representing the Universal Tobacco Company. Mr. Harrison arrived at Yokohama the day before the earthquake and there was some anxiety lest he had broken his long trip there and had been caught in the disaster.

Comparatively few vaccinations of schoolchildren have been made by the city health officer this year. The state law compels this treatment before children enter the public schools and one of the first tasks of the school nurse upon the reassembling of the schoolchildren tomorrow will be to see that new comers are vaccinated. The city health officer reported today a new case of typhoid fever in the city, a positive diagnosis being made following a blood test. Sporadic cases of diphtheria continue to be noted by Dr. Garnett.

Mayor Harry Wooding yesterday sent by telegraph an urgent telegram to the American Legion convention asking that the 1924 convention be held here. The mayor promised the boys a goose and bought their earnest consideration of Danville's claims as next entertainment city. Private advices received today indicated that Danville is meeting a stiff fight to win next year's honor. Half a dozen cities are clamoring for the next convention and the decision on the subject looms already as the big fight on the convention floor. Frank Talbott received word last night asking him to be in Fredericksburg today but he found it impossible to be there on such short notice. The Danville expeditionary force to Fredericksburg is well organized, however, and buddies in the Fifth district are looking for them to bring back the bacon and not a piece of the rind.

Impressive solos rendered by Mrs. Oter added greatly to the interest of the meeting.

MANY VIRGINIANS ARE IN EARTHQUAKE ZONE

(Special to The Bee.)
RICHMOND, Sept. 4.—Much uneasiness is felt here for the safety of a number of Richmond and Virginia missionaries and tourists who are known to have been in the stricken area of Japan when last heard from. Their friends and relatives anxiously are awaiting word as to their safety.

Dr. William C. Buchanan and his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Buchanan, were among Richmond people in Japan at the time of the earthquake. They were stationed at Gifu. Dr. Buchanan's son, Daniel Buchanan, is also in Japan, though his exact location is unknown. Dr. Buchanan and his family are anxiously awaiting word as to their safety.

Miss Helen Cameron, of Richmond, left for the Orient in February, accompanied by Mrs. Lyman T. Gilbert, of Harrisburg, Pa. They expected to visit Japan about this time, though relatives here are uncertain as to their exact whereabouts. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Monroe, formerly of this city, and several children were among local people in Tokio. Mrs. William Ellyson, accompanied by her son and daughter, William Ellyson, Jr., and Miss L. Mrs. Lacy's marriage to Vernon C.

Duke's Body En Route To Durham

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The body of Angier B. Duke, only son of Ben N. Duke, wealthy tobacco man, drowned yesterday at Greenwich, today was taken to Durham, N. C., for burial in the family cemetery.

Duke was drowned when a boat, in which he and five others were leaving the Indian Harbor Yacht Club for his yacht, the Althea, anchored several hundred yards from the shore, where a supper party was to conclude the festivities. The last one to step into the small dinghy, Duke lost his balance, capsizing the craft and throwing the entire party into the water. Duke's companions safely swam the few feet to the float but the rich young society man, an expert swimmer despite the fact he had only one hand, was drowned beneath the float. Not until six hours later was his body, clad in white duck yachting clothes, recovered by grappling irons handled by employees of the yacht club.

Accidental drowning was the official version of the affair, given by Chief of Police Vedley and Medical Examiner Clarke of Greenwich. Members of the party denied Duke or any of the others was intoxicated. One of Duke's companions of the evening, Edward Ireland, of New York City, who was to board Duke's yacht with the second load of friends, asserted tonight that it was a "remarkable sober party."

The party in the capsized row boat consisted of Chris Greer, a wealthy spokesman of Palham, N. Y.; Mrs. Richard Wheelan, of Rye; Louise Lawson, of Manhattan; Florence Huntley, of the Bronx; and Warner Jones, of Manhattan. There was also a boat man attached to Duke's yacht, Clyde Marshall, of Port Washington, N. Y., who was to row the party out to the vessel. He aided most of the floundering guests in getting on to the float.

Starting out from his Port Washington cottage, Duke, accompanied by Greer, went to the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club in Rye where they met the Misses Huntley and Lawson, according to Ireland's story. From the club the party sailed to the Wheelan home where Duke, suggesting supper aboard his yacht, picked up Mrs. Wheelan, her husband, Ireland, and Jones. Wheelan and Ireland went, along in Mrs. Wheelan's small Packard, trailing the Duke party in another Wheelan car.

"We were sailing and I arrived at the Yacht Club, it was all over," said Ireland. "They were grappling the waters for poor Angie's body when it was under the float all the time. I suggested that they get motorboats to tow the float away, but I wasn't needed."

Ireland scouted any suggestion of the party's over-indulgence in liquor prior to the accident. "We had a remarkably sober party," he said. "Somehow there's always good God that watches over the drunks, but a sober man is on his own." "Angie was always unlucky. When he was fifteen years old he shot off his right hand with a gun. Then he had an unhappy love affair." Ireland referred to Duke's divorce several years ago from Cordelia Drexel Biddle, of Philadelphia. His two children visited Duke in Port Washington recently. In accordance with the divorce agreement, Ireland couldn't say whether Duke had known intimately the young Huntley and Lawson women. "Women liked Duke very much," he said. "I don't know whether it was on account of his infirmity or not, but he appeared very strongly to their maternal instinct."

Duke was thirty-nine years old. His father's estate was valued at $60,000,000. In 1911 he succeeded his father in the management of the United Clear Store.

BRITISH FLEET CENTERS MEDITERRANEAN SEA

(By Chicago Tribune Service)
GENOVA, Sept. 4.—British fleet is entering the Mediterranean sea. This move is strengthening the hand of Great Britain at Geneva. It is asserted here that the British are determined that the League of Nations shall have authority to act in the Italo-Greek imbroglio.

The followers of the late King Constantine are preparing for action, it is said. Athens is isolated and the Greek government is allowing no reports concerning the "grave international situation" to leave the capital. As an indication of the drift of public opinion the message says the tomb of Col. Gounaris, who was executed by the revolutionaries last December is covered by flowers in contrast to its previous neglected appearance.

Silent Hymns To Be Sung In Sign Language

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Silent sermons and hymns sung in the sign language will be features of services held in the new Methodist Temple after its dedication on November 1. Chicago's deaf mission will have a permanent home in the temple. They have been without a place of their own since the old church building on the side of the temple was wrecked. Their services include sermons, lectures and by watching the extremely rapid sign language of the interpreter, they also enjoy programmes of readings, plays and songs. It is estimated Chicago has 2,000 deaf mutes. The negro deaf mutes have a small church in Hartwell Center where they enjoy similar services twice a month.

AUTOMOBILE THEFT CASES HEARD IN COURT

The case of Oscar Robertson, asserted in Columbia, S. C., on a car theft charge was continued. J. D. Ellis was held for the grand jury on a charge of stealing an automobile in North Carolina. Guy Hooper and J. C. Archer, colored, were acquitted of a charge of car theft charge. The warrants were the result of two negroes buying a machine together in Richmond after failure to meet the payments.

TERMS OF 3 METHODIST MINISTERS ARE EXPIRING

With the arrival of September indicating that efforts will be made to house the delegates in private homes in Richmond. Some years ago the conference was not on a self-sustaining basis and the delegates were housed in the homes of members of the denomination where the conference was held. The plan more recently has been to house the delegates in hotels and to allow a subsistence of $2. each day of the conference for meals. This plan of action has resulted in the conferences being held alternately in Richmond and Norfolk where hotel accommodations are larger than in other cities. It has thus prevented other cities from playing host to the conference and the old system of rotating the annual event among the larger cities of the state has been done away with. In some quarters there has been criticism of this plan it being held that the Methodist church profits by annual changes in the conference and as equal a distribution as possible among the cities. So far as is known there is no large question coming up for a settlement this year most of the big problems having been disposed of at the last conference.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPEN TOMORROW

Arrangements were completed yesterday at a meeting of the teachers and principals, presided over by Superintendent W. C. Griggs, for the opening of school tomorrow. Today the pupils will appear in the various class rooms, receive a list of books and be assigned work.

Practically all of the teaching force of the city attended the meeting yesterday and at noon luncheon was served, the school board being host.

Superintendent Griggs has announced that there is certain to be a very large enrollment. While all arrangements have not been made for the opening of school, such arrangements will be made and the children of school age in the city will be provided for.

Yesterday many prospective pupils were to be seen in the book stores buying supplies. Very few were buying books as the book have not been given out yet.

By next week the various school activities will have gotten into full swing. The high school football team will have started to practice and a schedule of games will soon be announced. "Lefty" Wilson, of the Danville baseball club, will coach the local high team.

NO DIMINUTION IN THE TENSITY OF THE SITUATION

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Sept. 2.—The lapse of another day finds no diminution in the intensity or gravity of the Greco-Italian dispute. No further overt, or hostile act is recorded, but a grave aspect of the situation is the Italian determination, expressed beforehand, to refuse to recognize the status of the league of nations in the affair, or respect its decision.

LEONARD AND DUNDEE READY
FOR BIG BOUT

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee, respective holders of the world's lightweight and featherweight titles, are today applying the finishing touches to their training for the 15 round match Wednesday night at the Madison Square Garden in Leonard's title fight.

Dundee, who recently sealed under 126 for the battle in which he took the feather crown from Eugene Enrie, is having no trouble in making weight for his ninth scrap with Leonard, while the lightweight king also declares he is close to the 135 pound mark now.

Unusual interest has been shown in the match, for both Leonard and Dundee have shown they are at the top of their form, the former when he easily conquered his former rival, Lew Tendler, and the latter when he all but knocked out Crigoli.

Another champion will appear on Wednesday night's card, for Hughie Dwyer, English lightweight titleholder, will make his American debut in a ten round bout the semi-final, with Clonty, of Canada. Three other preliminaries are on the program.

Danville Much In Evidence At Legion Meeting

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Sept. 3.—The State Legion convention opened here at 10 o'clock today with several thousand legionnaires in attendance. The Rev. J. Cleveland Hall, D. D., of Danville, former chaplain of the Virginia National Guard, was called upon to deliver the invocation.

One of the features of the day's program was the proposed action of Arch Morgan, Danville policeman, the $100 prize as individual contest winner, he having secured about 110 members for Danville Post No. 10.

Delegates from all sections of the State have noted with interest the strong campaign which Danville is waging to secure a 100 percent legion. The wholehearted support of Danville has been posted with placards bearing the legend, "Danville, 1924." Every Danville delegate and many others are wearing sleevebands with the same legend. It is understood here that the Danville post will put up a strong fight on the convention floor for convention honors for next year. Winchester, Petersburg, Lynchburg, Pulaski and Roanoke are after the convention.

Judge K. M. Landis made a strong address to the assembled delegates here today and aroused up an enthusiasm among his hearers by his reference to the bonus for ex-service men.

JUDGE LANDIS SPEAKS
(By The Associated Press)
FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Sept. 3.—Expressing his approval of a bonus for ex-service men, Judge Kenneth Mountain Landis, in an address before the Fifth Annual Convention Virginia Department American Legion here today, declared the adjusted compensation scheme introduced by the legion "is misnamed a bonus" and asserted that "it is a debt due the men who made the sacrifice for their country."

Judge Landis insisted that Congress should do something about the bonus, declaring that the men who served in the world war "lessened their earnings several times while those who stayed at home increased their earnings several times."

"Judge Landis was given an ovation by the veterans."

Approximately 500 former service men and visitors are here for the convention. Today's session was devoted chiefly to the registration of delegates, organization of committees and entertainment. A meeting of the executive committee of the department was held this morning and a joint session of the legion and the auxiliary featured the afternoon session.

Mayor J. Garnett King, Dr. A. B. Chandler and W. B. F. Cole, commander of the local post, welcomed the members of the two organizations. Colonel John A. Cutchins of Richmond responded for the legion and Mrs. W. W. Townes, president of the auxiliary made the response for the legion.

This afternoon the legionnaires were entertained with boxing contests, trap shooting and swimming events, while the ladies were guests of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities at reception and expedition to historic battlefields near the city.

Members of the legion were the guests of the auxiliary tonight at a banquet given at the Norfolk Hotel. The banquet was a most elaborate affair.

This Little World

BY ION RYAN
(Special to The Bee.)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4.—The business district of Los Angeles in late summer is like an immense dry battery. Immense numbers of electrons are sent out to stream in opposition all over the world. These electrons have a single purpose—to grow wealthier.

We stand under a drug store awning, watching the hurrying electrons. Here is a little group of fishermen. They are hauling an enormous fish out of the stream of passers-by—tossing it into a basket—the motor bus labeled "Free Trip to the Oil Fields."

"We can smell the bait!" "Two leashes in a proven field . . . no, brother, we don't need any false promises . . . cleanest business proposition . . . you share directly in the profits . . . practically sure . . . tell you, brother . . ."

The Princess Borghese comes down the steps of the fashionable Ambassador Hotel. The playful California breeze whips her skirt about her slim calves. "The American woman," insists the newspaper reporter. "They have been most attentive. They have positively overwhelmed me. I am unfortunate. I am not accustomed to the gracious spirit of the American women."

"And the laying on of hands is new to me. I have never before been fingered. As they talk they tap me. I am led by the elbow to appointments to which I could walk myself. I am even slapped on the back. They are so good that they habitually address me as 'Money' and 'Deeds.' It is most flattering. But slightly disconcerting—since I am unused to their happy, sociable ways."

What? Certainly not. That wasn't a wink. A princess never winks at a newspaper reporter.

Fifteen thousand attended the opening of the concert in the Hollywood Bowl. It is said to have been the greatest concentration of popular interest in a symphonic music ever exhibited in America.

Emil Oberholfer, formerly conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, was the maestro at whose baton transported the listening thousands to a land of unreality.

With the lights down, faces merged in the semi-darkness, it seemed that the city had poured itself as if into a mass into this ebony bowl.

And the people were drawing the magic of release from hum-drum affairs of the day.

Above them the sky unchanging. Ploked out with friendly stars that sang to the music of the spheres. Such is a symphony concert under the open sky.

HUMAN WRECKAGE
WITH MRS. REID
AT THE MAJESTIC

Mrs. Wallace Reid, James Kirkwood and a host of players in the powerful drama, "Human Wreckage," appeared in the first of a three days series of presentations of this absorbingly interesting play at the Majestic theatre last evening with a crowded house.

This was really the second showing of the picture, for at 11:30 a. m. manager M. F. Schomer, of the Majestic, had invited a group of clergymen, ladies and gentlemen to view the powerful sermon-drama, with its timely lesson to the masses of the insidious perils of habit-forming drugs. Of the picture, for at 11:30 a. m. manager M. F. Schomer, of the Majestic, had invited a group of clergymen, ladies and gentlemen to view the powerful sermon-drama, with its timely lesson to the masses of the insidious perils of habit-forming drugs.

"Human Wreckage" was presented to a large holiday-night crowd in the evening and will be shown today at 3:30, at 7:15 and at 9 p. m., and at the same time on Wednesday.

The widow of Wallace Reid, himself a handsome and brilliant screen actor whose life was prematurely ended by reason of his becoming a drug addict. It was her own idea to have a drama constructed which would portray with so much vividness and horror the unrealized prevalence and the peril of drug addiction in its various forms that it would effectively deter any who might be trifling with such a gripping habit through a recklessly mistaken confidence in their own strength.

In the play Mrs. Reid takes the role of the wife of a great barrierer who himself becomes a drug addict through reliance upon it in periods of overwork. The story is one full of interest, and the playwright has given one a glimpse of the dope peddlers, their victims and the men and women higher up who keep the nefarious and destructive traffic going, all for ad-vice and greed. All the subtle tricks of the addicts and of the peddlers are shown and along with it are portrayed the tendency of drug addiction to drive its victims to theft, suicide, murder and all forms of crimes.

The insatiable craving for morphine, heroin and all the other habit-forming drugs in which many in every large city furiously indulge. With the life and death story of Wallace Reid as a background, the screen drama is like a reproduction from actual life.

LEONARD AND DUNDEE READY
FOR BIG BOUT

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee, respective holders of the world's lightweight and featherweight titles, are today applying the finishing touches to their training for the 15 round match Wednesday night at the Madison Square Garden in Leonard's title fight.

Dundee, who recently sealed under 126 for the battle in which he took the feather crown from Eugene Enrie, is having no trouble in making weight for his ninth scrap with Leonard, while the lightweight king also declares he is close to the 135 pound mark now.

Unusual interest has been shown in the match, for both Leonard and Dundee have shown they are at the top of their form, the former when he easily conquered his former rival, Lew Tendler, and the latter when he all but knocked out Crigoli.

Another champion will appear on Wednesday night's card, for Hughie Dwyer, English lightweight titleholder, will make his American debut in a ten round bout the semi-final, with Clonty, of Canada. Three other preliminaries are on the program.

Capt. Diggs Will Teach At D. M. I.

Col. W. M. Kemper superintendent of D. M. I., who has just returned from an automobile trip through the Valley of Virginia and to Richmond and Fredericksburg, announced last night that he had completed his faculty, having just secured services of Capt. Edward R. Diggs, Jr., of New York, a West Point graduate, to teach English and to direct student activities during the 1923-24 session.

Capt. Diggs will also teach fencing, boxing and wrestling. Year before last he was an instructor at Blackstone Military Institute. In 1915 he saw service on the Mexican border and was overseas during the world war. He received an appointment from the army to West Point and was graduated in 1921.

A great many improvements have been made at D. M. I. during the summer months, most notable among which has been the construction of a swimming pool. This has been completed and will be ready for use as soon as the city has finished its new water main extension out South Main. In addition a couple of tennis courts have been laid out.

Col. Kemper stated that prospects for a large enrollment for the coming year were bright. Many have already signed up and many more are expected. Every mail brings applications for catalogs.

It was stated yesterday that D. M. I. would use the complete West Point uniform this year, with shakos and pom-poms. Full dress will be worn on proper occasions.

It will be of interest to many to learn that nine out of the ten D. M. I. graduates last Spring will attend universities or colleges this year. The list of graduates and the schools they expect to attend follows:

Gordon Childs, University of Virginia; Burton White, Hampton-Sidney; Oren Holder and Fara Martin, Anna, Va.; C. W. Lee, J. P. and Richard Dunkey, Richmond College; William Taylor, Richard Spessard and Frank Jones, Washington and Lee.

THROWING POP
BOTTLE AT GAME
IS CONDEMNED

The incident at the ball game yesterday when Manager Carroll of the Greensboro club was the target for a pop bottle while he was in the act of catching a foul fly brought a blush of shame to the faces of all right-minded fans. Manager Murphy stated last night that he regretted the action of the fan who had thrown the bottle at Carroll for the occurrence. He added that he did not want to win ball games in any such manner.

There has been much complaint that certain bleachers made a practice of hurling vile epithets at visiting players. Since the third baseman is nearest to the bleachers, most of this billingsgate falls on him. Murphy stated last night that he would see Chief Bell today about the matter and see if a couple of policemen could not be stationed in the bleachers to break up the practice.

MEMBERS OF EXPEDITION
ARRIVE IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, Sept. 1.—The first members of the Thule Arctic Expedition to reach civilization since the start made two years ago from Sopen, having traveled the last six months from their shack on Borden Polar Circle, four days journey north of Hudson Bay (Canada's most northerly point at Repulse Bay).

They are Dr. Beckett Smith and Jacob Olsen, a Greenland Eskimo. The expedition left under the leadership of Knud Rasmussen, with the patronage of the King of Denmark to whom they are hastening to make the first report of their researches.

The object of Dr. Smith was to make a study of the material culture of the Eskimo whom he found very friendly and who did not in the slightest recent explorations in their land. Others were studying Eskimo folk lore.

Several branches of science with the expedition secured valuable data for students of the Arctic.

JUNKERS RULING OVER BAVARIA

BY GEORGE SELDES
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
NUREMBERG, Bavaria, Sept. 3.—Pan-German monarchism ruled Bavaria today. Field Marshal von Ludendorff, reviewing half a million fascisti here, offered a silver goblet of wine to Prince Ferdinand; addressing him as "Your Majesty," he declared that the German army is finished.

"We swear it," came the thundering reply.

"I ask you to swear never to rest until you have thrown our enemies, the French and Belgians, out of the Ruhr."

"We swear it," came the answer.

"Then lift your hands and take the oath," concluded the priest, whereupon the 150,000 raised two fingers of the right hand.

Then followed "I had a comrade," a war time song of sorrow for the fallen, then "Deutschland über alles" and then the Prussian hymn.

ON THE RIVER FRONT IN YOKOHAMA

Yokohama is Japan's largest seaport, and ships from every maritime nation load at its modern docks. There is a river fleet of thousands of boats, too, engaged in lightering and in bringing to the piers the products of the interior agricultural and industrial district. This picture shows part of the river fleet of native boats.

Ships on Way With Food And Relief Workers—Coolidge Issues Appeal For Contributions.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—America took the lead today in relief of stricken Japan. While all the available ships, food and relief workers at the command of the United States in the Far East were being rushed to Yokohama, President Coolidge issued an appeal for American contributions to a great relief fund, and the American Red Cross appropriated $10,000 from its reserve fund for immediate expenditure on the scene.

GOOD RESULTS IN BILIOUSNESS

Black-Draught Recommended by a Texas Lady, Who Describes Her Daughter's Interesting Case.

Paris, Tex.—"We have been using Black-Draught for seven years," says Mrs. M. B. Salter, of this town, who related the following description of how Black-Draught proved beneficial in the case of her daughter.

"Our oldest daughter would get very bilious, was naturally of a bilious temperament," said the doctor. The medicines we tried seemed too strong and would leave her in a weakened condition, and her stomach so weak.

"We began to look for a remedy that would correct this and not leave her so weak. Some one suggested Black-Draught. We tried it and the result was so good we never use anything else with her."

"We make a tea from Black-Draught and it certainly gives satisfaction. I myself, use Black-Draught for headache and indigestion and colds, and recommend it to others. I'm sure it has benefited us."

Biliousness has been relieved in many thousands of cases, by the use of Theodore's Black-Draught. It is easy to take, and has none of the disagreeable after-effects of calomel and other mineral drugs. Black-Draught is purely vegetable. Try it. Sold everywhere 25c a package.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1919. As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alternative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce, Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. of the suffering in Japan to solicit aid from the public. The need of such aid the President pronounced urgent. He recommended that contributions be sent to the Red Cross headquarters here or to local Red Cross chapters for transmission to Japan.

The Red Cross headquarters here announced the steps it has taken for immediate relief in the following statement:

"The American Red Cross has started the motion fund for the relief of the victims of the Japanese earthquake horror, with a contribution of $100,000. In addition it has appropriated from its reserve funds $10,000 for the assistance of Americans caught in the disaster zone."

"Supplementing these appropriations for relief work, which will be forwarded, together with contributions from the public made in response to the President's proclamation, to the Japanese Red Cross through the State Department, it was announced at national headquarters of the Red Cross that its machinery for despatching relief supplies and Red Cross nurses and other relief workers to the scene is ready, should development show would be effective."

"Chairman John Barton Payne, who is in Chicago, wired national headquarters that the assistance of the American Red Cross being rendered through the State Department. Acting Chairman James L. Fier immediately conferred with Acting Secretary of State William Phillips, who is acting in close cooperation with the Red Cross."

"It was stated at Red Cross headquarters that individual contributions to the national fund may be forwarded through any Red Cross chapter, or direct to national headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C."

"National headquarters has also sent a radio message to the Philippine chapter of the American Red Cross requesting that it make an immediate survey of relief stores, primarily rice, and transportation facilities to make. This action was taken to insure prompt action if this form of American Red Cross relief should prove practicable."

The State Department was without aid during the day concerning the safety of the American Embassy officials at Tokyo or of American consuls at Yokohama and Nagoya. The Department cabled Nelson T. Johnson, American consul-general-at-large who is now in northern China, to proceed at once to Yokohama, Nagoya and Tokyo to ascertain the safety of American officials. Consul Ballantines, now at Dairen, also was ordered to the scene to aid the American officials. Each was instructed to advise the Department as to conditions and American casualties.

Dispatches received from Admiral Anderson, commanding his Asiatic fleet, indicated that he had acted to extend relief even before he received instructions from the Navy Department. He sent the destroyer Nori to Nagasaki to forward relayed radio messages from the scene of the disaster and despatched the destroyers the Crater, the Thompson, Barker, John D. Edwards, Tracy, and Whipple to Yokohama. The squadron is under command of Captain G. T. Pettigill. Anderson reported himself on the way to Chelof aboard his flagship the Crater.

The morning session of the corporation court began this morning at ten o'clock when the grand jury was empaneled and charged by Judge D. Price Withers to investigate the matters laid before it by the commonwealth's attorney and any other matters coming to the attention of the grand jury.

The grand jury would not remain in session longer than today. The grand jury is composed of A. D. Starling, foreman; George G. Temple, W. R. Pardum, C. M. Martin, P. A. Travis, W. W. Keeling, B. A. Pollock, Randolph Meade, J. J. Spear, P. P. Booth, J. L. Gravelly and W. E. Hurd.

Following the retirement of the grand jury, the court entertained a number of motions and the criminal docket was taken up after these had been disposed of. The docket is an exceptionally small one and should be disposed of within the next three days.

Drs. DeJarnette and Priddy appeared in court this morning and tendered their report on the mentality of Rufus Martin, a negro, charged with killing his wife. The tenor of the report was that Martin is sane at the present time. It is likely that the defense will seek to show that at the time he shot his wife he was the victim of irresistible impulse or that he was at that moment insane.

The morning session of court did not accomplish very much and the first report of the grand jury was awaited.

Good Morning Judge!

It was a long and monotonous session which engaged the attention of the mayor this morning. There were about half the cases on docket as yesterday but they were of a nature which required more attention, most of them being Mapp Act violations.

Belle Smith, colored, was assessed $10.10 and costs on a liquor charge. She was also sentenced to thirty days in jail but this was suspended on condition that not one drop of whisky be found in her house. A raid Saturday netted something over five gallons, most of it being found in a tin can in the garden. She accused John Lee Anderson, colored, of bringing it there but the latter denied it and there was no other evidence against him. The warrant, charging him with second offense was dismissed. He was fined $20 and costs on a charge of reckless driving. These cases occupied most of the court's attention.

James Bailey, colored, will be given a hearing on Saturday on a booze charge.

Steve Carloss was placed under a recognized bond of $50 for his good behavior towards D. Kishner, who charged that Carloss had threatened him. The trouble, which occurred on Craphead street arose from a dispute over some watermelons.

Charges of conducting business without a license against A. J. Swain, Lee Motley and Sam Gunn were dismissed with payment of costs on condition that the accused procure a license immediately. Such a warrant against Ellen Stukes was dismissed outright. The produced receipt showing that she had paid her license more than a month ago. The case of Luther Conley on a similar charge was continued.

Bettie Pope and Essie Farmer are still having trouble over the former's husband, whom Bettie charges has been "stolen" from her by Essie. They were before the court last Saturday and the Pope woman testified that when she caught Essie with her husband she warned her that she would not beat her but that she would sue her. This morning Essie charged Bettie with an assault. However, it was brought out that the younger negress started the trouble by hurling a brick at Bettie, after calling her a "cat". No action was taken but both were given a warning that should they appear before the court again heavy fines would be imposed on the one at fault. They were placed under recognized bonds of $100.

Silas Stamps, colored, fined $21 and costs on a speeding charge.

John Bailey, colored, fined $5 and costs for failing to pay his dog tax.

Corporation Court Gets Under Way

The September session of the corporation court began this morning at ten o'clock when the grand jury was empaneled and charged by Judge D. Price Withers to investigate the matters laid before it by the commonwealth's attorney and any other matters coming to the attention of the grand jury.

The grand jury would not remain in session longer than today. The grand jury is composed of A. D. Starling, foreman; George G. Temple, W. R. Pardum, C. M. Martin, P. A. Travis, W. W. Keeling, B. A. Pollock, Randolph Meade, J. J. Spear, P. P. Booth, J. L. Gravelly and W. E. Hurd.

It is likely that the defense will seek to show that at the time he shot his wife he was the victim of irresistible impulse or that he was at that moment insane.

The morning session of court did not accomplish very much and the first report of the grand jury was awaited.

An capital case was disposed of this morning, that being John Beatty, a negro, who was indicted for taking the advantage of a minor child. Judge Withers expressed his opinion of this case in forceful language and on hearing the plea of guilty sentenced the man to serve five years in the penitentiary. The court at the time of sentencing, declared that it can be expected to show during his first year's incarceration a good record he would incur in a petition for a parole. The negro was charged with attacking a thirteen-year-old child placed in his home to be reared.

Officers Lose Long Race With Booze-Laden Car

Prohibition officers yesterday lost a nip and tuck race with an alleged rum runner, who is said to have had on something over one hundred gallons. He called on J. Hugh and uphull chase which took them to Lynchburg, the sleuths were finally forced to abandon it. The driver of the Buick, who was a white man, is said to have come through here from the mountain section with a big load of the spirits.

Prohibition Inspector W. T. Shelton received information of the man's passing through. The message stated that the man then had a thirty-minute start and had gone through Chatham. He called on J. Hugh and uphull chase which took them to Lynchburg, the sleuths were finally forced to abandon it. The driver of the Buick, who was a white man, is said to have come through here from the mountain section with a big load of the spirits.

Whether the stranger knew that officers were on his trail is not known but it is surmised by the officers that he had been such a inking for the reason that he made such terrific speed all the way.

Found Tooth In His Soup But It Proved His Own

(By Chicago Tribune Service.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—William Ashley is a suspicious nature. He questioned the "Scotch oatmeal" served by Dimitris Kokonopoulos, whose unfortunate country just now is being kicked around by Italy, because he found a burr in the oatmeal. So Ashley transferred his patronage to the restaurant operated by Alois Kutzo, but found something in the goulash he could not identify, so he moved again. This time to the Greek Food Emporium, presided over by Achilles K. Tambros, who was making a specialty of Irish stew. Ashley was looking in the succulent stew when he encountered a tooth and put up an awful roar.

Came Mr. Tambros, anxious to know how come the commotion. Ashley told him of the tooth in the stew. "But cows have teeth," soothed Mr. Tambros, "maybe the butchers forgot to remove them."

"But cows do not wear gold crowns on their teeth," roared Ashley, as he hurried stew, tooth and all at Mr. Tambros' head, thereby breaking a plate glass window.

Later, when he went to the police department to make complaint, he discovered it was his own gold-crowned tooth that had dropped into the stew and which he had thrown away.

Dundee To Battle Leonard Wedn'day

By HARRY NEWMAN.
(By Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee today topped off their training and will seek to settle the match mooted question as to which is the better boxer. At the Yankee ball park Wednesday night the old rivals will get going in a 15-round affair with the lightweight title at stake. The two have met eight times previously without coming to any understanding in the matter of superiority. This time it is going to be different, both say in the orthodox pre-fight manner.

Leonard rules a big favorite, although the Dundee supporters are snapping at some of the fancy prices being quoted. Dundee will still retain his featherweight title whether or not he is on his feet at the end of the bout but Leonard is taking chance with his crown. Of course if Leonard should knock Dundee out it would not improve the bounding Italian's status and we have it that Leonard is going to try and do that very thing and put an end to Johnny's challenges.

In any event they should put up a great fight. It might be that there will not be a knockout, but there is assurance of plenty of action all the way. Billy Gibson and Jimmy Johnston announced today that the crowd will be at least as large as that which saw Leonard and Tandler two months ago.

Harry Greb is going to have a tough job keeping away from his long list of challengers. Mike McTigue and Tommy Loughran want to engage the attention of the new midweight champion. Loughran says that if Greb is not ready to go yet, he would like to get at McTigue again. However, the Philadelphia says that the next time he mixes with McTigue it will not have to be a decision. Mike and Tommy had an argument several weeks ago and opinion as to the outcome was divided at the end of twelve rounds.

McTigue will probably be signed up to meet Gene Tunney in a few days. That is the shot Mike would most like to have. Following that, the tall Celt will likely give Loughran another try at his title.

"I am now eighty years old, but in spite of that fact I have gained forty pounds by taking Tanlac, and am able to work every day for the first time in fourteen years." is the truly remarkable statement made recently by J. H. (Uncle Jim) Keeler, 3706 32nd St., Mt. Rainier, Md., a suburb of Washington, D. C. "I was in such a bad fix from stomach trouble that my friends gave me up three or four times. Since taking Tanlac I eat and digest everything. All I can say is this, I thank God for Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold. "Hold On," Debt-Ridden, He Urges The Young Agrarians

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—"What the farmer needs is markets. He doesn't want sympathy."

"Although it may sound criminal, nothing would be better for the price of wheat than to dump a million bushels in the Atlantic Ocean today. Within three years farming will be on a highly paying basis."

These above from Governor Warren T. McCray, who recently faced 100 creditors and told them that at the present time he is unable to meet his liabilities estimated between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

The governor may give up farming; may give up his 15,000 acres of land and 1200 prize head of cattle in an effort to straighten out his financial difficulties which he blames on the deflation of farm prices, and the depression of land values.

"Until the gravity of the present farm situation has cleared," he said in an interview, "there is but one thing for the young farmer to do: work day and night, practice rigid economy, diversify farming, minimize improvements and plant crops."

Although optimistic of the future in farming, McCray admits the present plight of farmers is critical.

"His only desire is to sell his products at a decent price. The farmer has no recourse to the curtailment of production or other producers have. He may decide to decrease his production 20 per cent. The elements may do the same, and the farmer suffers."

"The only difference between a young farmer's problems and those of an old farmer is that the young farmer has less experience and judgment. Therefore, the young farmer's problem is a more serious one."

"I would emphatically advise any young farmer to reduce his farm improvements to the barest necessities. Make the old buildings, the old machinery and the old tools last as long as possible. Sell your land in small pieces, outlive itself, and within two or three years the young farmer will be able to restock what he needs."

"The present inequality of profit never will endure. There is bound to be a shift and it is coming soon. There never was a more opportune time for the farmer than now."

"Right now there is but a slight demand for wheat. The opening of foreign trade, especially with Germany, will provide a means of stimulating the demand the farmer will cover his profit. Add one cent to the price of a loaf of bread as sold on the market, hand the profit to the farmer instead of the middleman, and the price of wheat will advance 55 cents a bushel."

"Although it may sound criminal, nothing would be better for the price of wheat than to dump a million bushels in the ocean today. The effect would be startling."

"That would be the revolutionary way of bettering prices, the same holding true for all other classes of farm products."

"The same effect will have been accomplished within probably three years, and the drastic means will not be necessary. The young farmer will profit by his present losses because they will be valuable experience for the next crisis. Tell every young farmer to hold his possessions now above all times. Land values are at the point of making perceptible gains."

Prior to his election as chief executive of Indiana, McCray was considered one of the richest land owners in the state. Today it is doubtful if his vast land resources will cover his

1 DEAD, 4 HURT AS CAR CRASHES INTO A POLE

(By The Associated Press)

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Sept. 3.—Willie Minter, 28, of Stafford county, is dead, Dan Speaks, of Washington, is in a critical condition, and three other men are recovering from painful injuries, after a car crashed into a telephone pole yesterday, when the car in which the five men were driving to Colonia Beach skidded from the roadway and crashed into a telephone pole.

Minter's chest and abdomen were crushed. He died in a local hospital. Speaks, owner and driver of the car, suffered a broken arm and numerous cuts and bruises. His recovery is said by hospital authorities to be doubtful. The other three men, Lewis Shelton, Willie Jones and Monroe Shelton, were less seriously injured.

Speaks, it was said, crowded to one side of the roadway in an attempt to pass another automobile. His car skidded into the ditch, striking the telephone pole. The post was broken and the car overturned, pinning the occupants beneath it.

"Minter is survived by his mother, two sisters and three brothers."

CHICAGO WILL BE SCENCE OF G. O. P. MEETING

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Frederick W. Upham, treasurer of the National Republican committee, returning today on the Leviathan from a trip abroad, said there was no question but that Chicago would be the scene of the 1934 Republican convention.

A majority of the members of the committee had expressed themselves in favor of Chicago, he said.

San Francisco, Mr. Upham said with "a powerful bid" for the convention, "wouldn't have a chance," he declared, "unless President Coolidge expressed a desire to have it elsewhere than at Chicago."

JURY STANDS BY TEACHER WHO USED ROD FOR PUPIL

YORK, Pa., Sept. 3.—York county jurors do not believe in sparing the rod at the risk of spoiling the child. They demonstrated their stand in Judge Nevin W. Warner's Court this morning by rendering a verdict of not guilty in the case of Ira Shearer, a school teacher of Warrenton township, accused of assault and battery as the result of his having whipped the son of M. D. Shillito, a Washington township, who was a pupil in his school.

The jury directed that the father of the boy disciplined, being the prosecutor, pay the cost of prosecution.

Danville Schools Opened Today; Students Begin Studies Tomorrow

City schoolchildren gathered this morning at the various city schools for the purpose of registration and in order to secure their books and prepare for the opening of the school year tomorrow. All of the schools were hives of industry this morning while this work was going on. A large number of new scholars were on hand, many of them brought by their parents. It was impossible to get the registration figures at this early hour, but it is expected that the school year will be the largest in the city's history.

The auditorium of the Danville High school was filled at 9 o'clock with prospective students. Many of them were old students, passing on to higher grades.

A brief address by Prof. Sidney B. Hall was followed by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," in which every one joined heartily. Mr. Hall read a chapter from Corinthians, following with a prayer in which he asked that guidance and strength might be given to the faculty and students to make this year's work the most successful one in the history of the school; to cultivate the principles of love, loyalty and devotion—the qualities upon which patriotic citizenship is built, and all to the glory of God and for the cause of education, and closing with the Lord's Prayer, said in unison.

In pledging himself to the school, the faculty and students, Mr. Hall said he would always hold the welfare of the student as of first importance and he liked the custom of using the given names, without title of Mr. and Miss, because it tends to a more sympathetic acquaintance with the individual.

The students were then dismissed and sent to the advisory committee who will assist each one in the selection of subjects of their course.

Miss Charles Anthony, Miss Bessie Herndon and Professor J. W. Cook are the members of this committee.

Robert Mobley, James Sheburne, Julian Adams, Stanley Lea, Ben Dickerson, Dudley Overby and Julian Skinnell of the class of 22 and 23 were present at the opening of High school this morning.

JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Mrs. Evans, Freed from Female Weakness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have your health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought it should cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."

—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1694 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacement, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The reason is given in letters like these, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Man builds, creates, strives for more and greater things. Man plans for the future, dreams of conquests to add to his store of riches. In a moment of providence destroys man and his works. How insignificant is man! Civilization stands in awe at the destruction in Japan, prostrate, will soon rise again only awaiting a friendly helping hand. Here is a lesson for you—your plans of conquest—your dreams of empire. What does it all mean? What does it amount to? A moment's tremor and you are engulfed. You and your dreams destroyed.

I am in doubt as to the immediate effect on the market. Vast destruction of wealth is fundamentally fearful. I don't think American investment is great enough to make it a great factor here. But whatever the effect, this is the time to give to God.

CARS MAY BE DRIVEN ON DEALER'S TAG ON SUNDAY

A dealer in automobiles has the perfect right to drive cars he intends to sell on Sunday, with a dealer's tag on it, according to a decision reached in the Corporation-court this morning.

The case was that of Henderson, automobile salesman of the Crowell Auto Company, who was convicted in the Police court for a violation of the state license law and who was fined. He noted an appeal and bond of $500 was required. This was refused today.

The police maintained that if the dealer was demonstrating his car on Sunday he was violating the Sabbath law. On the other hand if he was driving his car for pleasure purposes, they contended that he should possess a regular automobile license and not that of a dealer.

When the appeal came up in court this morning the defense demurred to the warrant. In other words, counsel contended that admitting the facts, the case was not a violation of the law. The state did not contest this point and agreed that there was nothing in section 2128 of the Virginia laws which would prohibit the dealer using the tag on his car on Sunday. The meat of the act is that before he commences to operate machines sold by him he shall have a dealer's tag.

The local case has been watched with considerable interest not only by the lawyers, but also by the Danville Automotive Association.

Matsukata Was Killed In Quake

(By The Associated Press.)

NAKASAKI, Japan, Sept. 4.—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former premier and Lord and Keeper of the Privy seal, has died from injuries suffered in the earthquake, according to a report received by the Nagoya Railroad Bureau.

Marquis Matsukata, one of the few remaining Japanese genro or elder feudal clan of Satsuma from whose descendants spring the greater number of officers of the Japanese navy. He was born in February, 1855.

He served under Prince Shimazu, the feudal lord of Satsuma, and fought in the Japanese civil war of restoration. When the imperial government returned to power, taking the place of the Shoguns, he entered the government service as a prefectural governor and later became attached to the department of finance under the then minister Count Shigenobu Okuma.

With Count Okuma he laid the foundations for a stable state finance which was in chaotic condition on account of the feudal system of administration. A notable achievement of Matsukata was the organization of a land tax.

In 1879 he was dispatched to France as vice president of the Japanese section of the Paris Exposition. On his return he was appointed home minister and contributed to national progress by reorganizing the post and telegraph system of the empire. In the cabinet organization of 1881 he was made minister of finance with the additional post of councillor of state. During the following ten years he remained in the post despite frequent cabinet changes. One of his great steps in strengthening national finances was the organization of the Bank of Japan and a stable currency system. He brought about the redemption of bonds issued by the state to feudal lords in payment of immense tracts of lands which they held in or near the big cities. He also established a steady money market for the country.

Historical, also was his work in readjusting the paper currency. Paper money had fallen below par in consequence of excessive issues during the civil war and Matsukata brought about a restoration of its value. A steady money market facilitated commercial and industrial development. It was during this period that many enterprises, notably railways, spinning and other manufacturing industries sprang up and prospered. Meanwhile the country's foreign commerce made a marked progress.

It was Matsukata who opened Japanese legations at New York, London and Lyons, the largest markets for Japanese exports at the time. He inaugurated the system of foreign export exchange as a means to encourage Japan's exports and to absorb specie from abroad in view of the scarce production of gold and silver in Japan.

MORNING COTTON LETTER
(Courtesy Thomson & McKinnon)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—During the holiday here Liverpool advanced another quarter of a cent but at noon today is unchanged from Friday.

Considering the appalling news from Japan, the strength abroad shows how seriously the European trade regards the cotton outlook. In the past ten years Japan become an important factor in world's cotton industry and this tragedy would have a very depressing influence under ordinary conditions. But the last government report reflects production below requirements so that we would buy on a set-back.

Your Health

BY DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

PREVENTING PYORRHEA
The ordinary person in the good old days didn't think much about decay from pyorrhea. Pyorrhea is as old as man, the scriptures say, but so is almost every other disease.

We are not so much concerned with their ancient history as with their prevention and cure at present time. Pyorrhea is the chief, or at least one of the chief causes for the loss of our teeth. One by one they drop away without any special warning, after the first alarm.

If you have a cavity in one of your teeth have it attended to at once. Decay of your teeth is bad, but pyorrhea is much more so. It starts as a one-tooth disease and remains so for a time, depending on your condition and strength of resistance. Then it generally spreads to another tooth, and another, until the last one goes and you have to buy a set.

Strange, but true, the disease never attacks all the teeth at the same time, so there is hope.

To prevent this unpleasant condition from becoming a reality in your own case, go at once to your dentist, at the first sign of pain or tender and bleeding gums. Have the scale removed from the root and you may check it. If another tooth becomes tender and infected have the process repeated.

Better prevention is to clean the mouth and teeth thoroughly after each meal, also at night and in the morning.

Visit your dentist two or three times a year for examination and cleaning.

This disease may be checked by proper treatment and careful diet for system upbuilding.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRES. CO. TO LITTLE MARQUISE, CARE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

DEAR LITTLE MARQUISE:

You certainly have your compensations. You never had a cantankerous old mother-in-law.

I didn't know until yesterday that Jack had been having any trouble with his mother. I supposed she liked me very much, for didn't she give me this beautiful desk and wasn't it through her that I made the acquaintance of this lovely old secret drawer and took to myself your proper of confidential friendship?

I was literally broken-hearted when I received her letter. It seems there is an old maid in the town where she lives that she wanted her son to marry and she has never forgiven me for being young and good looking.

Sometimes I think dear little Marquise, that people never should grow old and that is probably another compensation you had, for you did not live to be very old. Old people are so hard to live with and they make such hard work of living. They never seem to think that you should have any other life but the life that they have planned for you.

Jack's mother prides herself on descent from the Mayflower, and if descent from Puritan stock means being narrow and selfish and bigoted and self-centered, then I am glad that dad came over in the steerage when nothing but his splendid physique and his brain to depend on.

Jack has been awfully angry at his mother and, of course, she lays it all to me, although if she only knew it was I who kept him from going down to her house and reading the riot act to her. She is very angry over the baby, you see, particularly as Jack has insisted upon it being named after himself and, of course, John Alden is the ancestor upon whom she prides herself.

I am sure if she could see dear little Jack she would know there never was any John Alden before him who was any greater than he.

I wanted Jack to let me go down to his mother and see if I couldn't make up with her, but he wouldn't let me. Said that all his life he had put up with her whims because he thought he ought to, but when it came to choosing between his wife and his mother, it was his wife every time. He remarked, "From now on I am going to run my own affairs in spite of all my distinguished ancestors."

I guess, dear little Marquise, that things even themselves up in this world. Perhaps you found that out too, before you went away, to that other sphere where you are not able to speak to the world of your loves and proudly proclaim your self your wife, yet I got from your letter you never doubted his love. If you did not have a baby in your arms to love and cherish you weren't harassed by an old mother-in-law and a disappointed old maid.

I am not very happy tonight, little Marquise, for Jack's mother is the only person I ever knew who didn't love her own son.

TOMORROW I'll write you again.

Yours truly, Leslie Pres. Co.

A Man or Group of Men of Business and Financial Ability to Grasp this Most Unusual Money-Making Opportunity

We shall establish at once in this city a complete small plant for the manufacture of our nationally advertised Clover Leaf Cord Tires. Similar plants, to operate as units in the great Paul System, are being established elsewhere. There will be many such plants located in this state. Each will be independently owned and operated by men we select. Each will be licensed to build and sell the famous Clover Leaf Cord Tires. Each will have exclusive protection in its territory. Each will be equipped with the Paul patented machinery, which alone makes such plants possible.

To any man or group of men prepared to own and operate this New Plant of the Paul System, we offer a surer market and a larger profit than we believe can be made in any other line of business.

Henry Ford Is Right

The tendency of large industries in the future will be to locate smaller factories nearer the consumer. Up to this time a tire factory costing less than $1,000,000 has been almost unheard of. A man of moderate means could own at most only a few shares of stock. But now all this is changed by the establishing of the Paul System.

The Invention of a Great Tire Engineer Makes Plan Possible

A great Akron tire engineer has perfected the small tire plant. It duplicates perfectly on a small scale the finest product of the largest factory. The Paul Rubber Company, largest tire makers in the South, have secured exclusive control of the patents and plan. The Paul System has been created. The Paul Rubber Company through lending its purchasing power and skilled tire builders cooperates with each plant to insure success.

You Build and Sell the Nationally Advertised Clover Leaf Tires

Tires known for extreme life and service. Car owners recognize their quality. Our national advertising continually creates the demand. You build and supply the tires to meet it. A market far in excess of possible production is right at your door. You control both the making and selling of every tire. In this way you make a double profit. You can meet or beat all competition. In fact you can sell retail at dealers' wholesale prices and double your investment the first year by manufacturing and selling an average of only one set of four tires daily.

Why Car Owners Prefer Locally Made Tires

They know you and will have confidence in you. They can see their tires made. They can drive to the factory and be sure of purchasing new stock with the full life of the rubber in every tire. They can have adjustments made fairly and easily. They can obtain their tires at lower cost. They will have a real pride in the success of this local industry. They will prefer to buy Clover Leaf Tires, factory made, factory sold and factory guaranteed by men they know.

No Tire Experience Necessary

—As we supply and install all machinery, supervise its installation, supply all raw materials at low prices and furnish an experienced man for plant manager.

If you have $10,000 to $15,000 to invest in a safe and profitable business under your complete control yet operated as part of a nationally advertised system, write or wire us today.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1923.

THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR.

The Danville public schools reopen
 tomorrow for the new school year,
 not, as had been ardently hoped by many with the first steps taken towards relieving the congestion which has been growing in the public school system through failure to keep pace with the growing school population, but with the problem solved
 as far as it was possible to do so at this time by the school board.

The board with the superintendent has worked out a way to utilize existing space in the best possible manner to enjoy the assurance that the bond issue money were actually available for the undertaking of a building programme. There is no gainsaying the fact the present situation in the schools militate against a first-class education. No matter how cleverly the school authorities may utilize the space, the fact remains that the schools are overcrowded, the classes are unwieldy and effective instruction
 cannot be given until broader measures of relief are undertaken.

A timely article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly by William G. Shellard reveals that the great shortage in the country's public school question—but there is cold comfort in this. Collier's sent questionnaires to all the 1,467 cities and towns in this country which have a population of over 5,000. Replies were received from over one thousand and an analysis of the returns
 shows that half a million children will be denied the education they have a right to expect. These figures are not estimates but are based on the definite returns from a thousand cities. The sum total of children in this country who will fail to go to school because there is not room enough is a matter of conjecture but it is amazingly high.

Superintendents of schools to whom the questionnaire was sent were asked to explain the reason for the swamping of the school systems. The replies received indicate that the children of today are demanding more education and there is a growing disposition on the part of parents to insist on education. This reflects, of course, a growing realization on the part of the adult that the children of today stand little chance of winning their way in the world without being well rounded in the essentials of education. It is surely a healthy sign.

In the long tabulation of the cities
 which responded to the questionnaire some amazing figures are seen. Even Chicago with its wealth and ability to meet school problems must turn away nearly 47,000 schoolchildren because there is not room for them. In New York City nearly 50,000 are denied. In Virginia, Danville, for some reason, is not included, presumably because the questionnaire was not answered. Other cities of the State, however, show a large number of children who cannot go to school because of cramped conditions. In Newport News there is a shortage of 3,070 seats; Norfolk 2,649; Portsmouth 1,490; Richmond 1,151. Portsmouth 1,090, the deficiencies being comparatively small in the cities of Bristol, Charlottesville, Harrisonburg, Staunton and Suffolk. The analysis shows that the North Carolina cities are in advance of the Virginia cities
 in the number of children denied education because of the lack of school space.

One is impressed with the fact that in those cities which have grasped forward-looking policies make the best showing on the school map. Cities which have been building for the future rather than for the present have those which have not been caught unaware by the recent crescendo in school attendance.

SO ON, FOREVER.

Down in Yucatan, southern Mexico,
 an army of Indians under the direction of scientists are digging up the palaces and temples of the ancient civilization of the Maya people. They lived more than 2000 years ago and were sufficiently advanced to produce a race of artists. The Indians have several years of digging ahead of them. Discoveries, fascinating, possibly sensational, will be made. You'll read a lot about this digging job in the news between now and 1926.
 Chichen Itza, chief city of the Mayas,
 was as large as Chicago is today.
 Thousands of years from now, future
 scientists may be digging out of mud and send the remains of Chicago.

Over in England, uen Mary finishes her famous doll's house. It's only eight feet high. But the greatest English architects designed it. English artists painted tiny pictures to hang on its walls. Barrie and other writers wrote miniature books for its library. This doll's house is to be passed on to future generations as a perfect record of a fine English home in 1923. It has modern plumbing, electrical fittings, a garage housing
 wee autos perfect to the last detail—
 even a wine cellar with real hooch in small bottles. No matter what may be dug up in the Maya ruins of Yu-catan, it will seem crude alongside the devices of modern times. A lot of change comes in 2000 years. And after another 2000 years the doll's house of Queen Mary will seem as crude as Maya ruins seem today.

Many is steadily improving himself

 Or maybe 'man' is merely improving

WILLS AND JACK

DEMPSEY NOT TO FIGHT THIS YEAR

By HUGH FULLERTON
 (St. Chicago Tribune Service.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey will not fight in New York or New Jersey,
 either before or after January 1.

Outside of this metropolitan district, where there is much mystery
 as to why the match between the white champion and the black man cannot be staged, and today I received from high political circles the inside dope on the situation.

First—There is a million and an half dollars at stake.

Second—Three political factions
 want a red crack at the rich stake.

Third—There is a strong element that opposes Wills because he is a negro.

Fourth—Tex Rickard knows that the boxing game is in peril. He has a lot of money invested, he wants to perpetuate his strangle hold on boxing in New York and he has been warned that if he attempts to match
 Wills and Dempsey the boxing law in New York will be killed. Rickard does not want to jeopardize his monopoly
 on the fight game by trying to stage
 a fight with Wills as the big attraction. He is dodging the issue, and is perfectly willing to let the match
 go either to Connecticut or to Mexico, rather than to risk political opposition in New York.

Jack Kearns is dodging Wills.
 Some people think it is because he fears a loss of money. As a matter of fact, Kearns and Dempsey believe he would be easier to beat than Harry Greb would be. Kearns came into New York twice to settle this match and each time ran into the political situation and as a wise man
 he decided to duck it out of and left the politicians to fight it out.

There is a big chance that Wills
 may get a chance at Dempsey, but it will not be in New York or New Jersey, simply because the promoters know that it will be a big loss to these two states. They are even shy of Connecticut which is making a big bid for the fight.
 Jimmy Coffroth is expected here any minute to try to arrange for a fight between Dempsey and Wills for the month of December and if it can show the cold he may get it.

The further they go from New York to hold the match the less chance there is for stopping boxing in New York.

POINCARÉ'S REPLY TO STRESEMANN TO BE WATCHED

(By The Associated Press.)

PARIS, Sept. 3.—The speech of Chancellor Stresemann of Germany
 at Stuttgart yesterday, declaring that a Germany which was allied economically with France would afford greater guarantee for peace, was received with interest in French official circles. Premier Poincaré will reply in public and it is understood he will say that France is quite ready to enter an economic arrangement with her former enemy.

Parts of the chancellor's speech
 are interpreted here as cautious steps toward ultimate announcement of the end of passive resistance in the Ruhr.

LENIN
 Dr. Farster, celebrated German
 medical specialist who treated Lenin,
 says: "One of the causes of Lenin's disease is a bullet that was fired by a revolutionary, and in his neck it hurt one of the main arteries, the consequence of which is that the flow of the brain by the blood is becoming gradually diminished and he is dying because his brain dries up."

At that, Lenin may have a chance.
 For if drying up the brain were always fatal, few of us would live beyond 40.

LONGER
 We Americans are gluttons for punishment, seem to thrive on it.
 The Census Bureau reports that the average length of life increased three and a third years during 1921, a year of hard times.
 One reason for this is that we fight harder to live when the struggle for existence becomes more severe. Nothing is more consuming, even fatal,
 than a "soft life."

AGAINST
 The Knights of the Blazing Ring, which announces itself "against all clans and klanas," claims that its members are "not like wild fire."
 Sound reasonable? As soon as a Society-for becomes powerful, up rises a Society-against, to cut it down. Nature by volcanic upheaval creates a mountain, then instantly starts destroying it by erosion. This three dimensional universe of ours
 has an ineradicable system of opposites
 and balances. Just a matter of time.

THE ISLE OF RETRIBUTION
 BY EDISON MARSHALL

Illustrated by E. M. Satterfield
 © LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY, 1923

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 Godfrey Cornet sends his son, Ned, on a voyage to Northern Canada and Alaska to exchange two thousand silk and velvet gowns
 with the Indians for fine furs. Godfrey offers to split the profits 15-85
 the lion's share to Ned.

Cornet is engaged to Lenore Har-denworth, a girl who is as beautiful as Ned is brave. Ned hires a ship called the "God-send" by hosts of friends.

Godfrey Cornet comes to the dock
 to bid Ned goodbye. He asks Miss Gilbert to give his son a woman's care. Mrs. Hardenworth objects to eating the same table with the seamen. Ned makes up his mind to avoid the three aristocrats as much as possible.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 "That's three for each table, considering one of the men has to stay at the wheel. Why shouldn't one of these plates be removed?"

"Of course, if you prefer it." Half ashamed of his reluctance, he called the negro and had the fourth plate removed. "Miss Gilbert will eat at the second table," he explained.
 When the man had gone, Ned turned in appeal to Lenore. "She'll be here in a minute. What shall I tell her?"

"Just what you told the servant—
 that she is to wait for the second table. Ned, you might as well make it clear in the beginning, otherwise it will be a problem all through the trip. Wait till she comes in, then tell her."

Ned agreed, and they waited for the sound of her step on the stair.
 Mrs. Hardenworth's large lips were set in a hard line; Lenore had a curious, eager expectancy. Quietly Julius served the soup, wondering
 at the ways of his superiors, the whites,
 and the long seconds grew into minutes. Still they did not see Miss Gilbert.

"Send for her," Mrs. Hardenworth urged. "There's no reason you shouldn't get this done and out of the way tonight, so we won't have to be distressed about it again."

Wholly cowed, Ned called to the negro waiter. "Please tell Miss Gilbert to come here," he ordered.

A wide grin cracking his cheeks,
 feeling wholly to understand the real situation and assuming that "do boys" had relented in his purpose to exclude the seamstress from the first table, the colored man spread cheerfully over Ned. Ned had already spoken kindly to him; Julius had deplored
 the order to remove her plate almost as a personal affront.

Again they waited for the seamstress to come. The women were grim, forbidding. And in a moment
 they heard steps at the threshold.

But only Julius, his face beset with gloom, came through the open door. "De lady say she 'stremely sorry," he pronounced, bowing. "But say she's already promised Miss McNeil to eat with him!"

VI
 THE Charon sped straight north,
 out of the Sound, through the inside passage. Days were bright; skies were clear, displaying at night a marvelous intricacy of stars; the sea glittered from the kindly September sun. They put in at Vancouver the night following their departure from Seattle, loaded deck chairs—low cold for all the sunlight that kissed the up-reaching crests of the waves—some way
 like a dream, too. The brain kept clear enough, but it was all somewhat confusing to an inner brain, a secret self that they had scarcely been aware of before. It was hard to say which was the more real—the gay life they had left, the laughter of which was still an echo in their ears, or these far-reaching wastes
 of wintry waters.

They couldn't help but be thoughtful. Realities went home to them that they had no desire to admit.
 A fervent belief in their own sophisticated

had been their dominant point of view, a disfigurement and a realism that was the tone of their generation, denying all they could not see or hear, holding themselves super-ciliously aloof from that gracious wonder and simplicity that still blessed little children; but here was something that was inescapably beyond them. The coasters' least away. They couldn't cast it off with a piece of cheap slang; demanding it in order to hold firm to their own philosophy of life. Here was something that shook their old attitude of self-love and self-sufficiency to its foundations. They thought they knew life, these three; they thought they were bigger than life, that they had mastered it and found it out and stripped all delusions from it, but now their unutterable conceit, the pillar of their lives, was threatening to fall. This sunlit sea was too big for them; too big and too mighty and too old.

The trouble with Ned's generation
 was that it was a godless genera-

 killed the gods. It was the genera-

 the generation that had killed the gods.
 It was the generation that had killed

Internal Revenue Collections In Virginia Given

By GEORGE H. MANNING
WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Internal revenue collections in the state of Virginia in the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to $40,205,124.46, fourteen per cent. less than in the year ended June 30, 1922. Receipts for the entire United States showed a decrease of 18 per cent. for the year.

Income and profits taxes collected in the state in the fiscal year just ended, which included payments of the third and fourth installments of the 1921 income and profits tax and the first and second installments of the 1922 income tax, amounted to $18,706,832.44, or 26 per cent. less than those collected in the preceding year, $18,577,402.02.

Receipts from resources other than income and profits taxes showed only a very small decline, the figures for 1922, respectively being $23,828,184 and $26,497,292.02. The failure of the miscellaneous tax receipts to drop with other taxes is attributed largely to the increased receipts from the tobacco tax.

The total collections of internal revenue from all sources in the United States for the fiscal year of 1922, according to the report of Commissioner David H. Blair to Secretary Mellon, were $2,621,745,227.57, against $3,197,451,083.00 in the fiscal year of 1921. A total of $123,252,824 was returned during the past fiscal year for taxes illegally collected in prior years.

Income and profits tax collections fell from $2,086,918,464.85 in 1922 to $1,689,177,408.33 last year. The decrease is due principally according to Commissioner Blair, to the depression of business in 1921 and to some extent to changes in the law. Revenues from all other sources decreased from $1,110,532,618.15 to $322,567,818.19. The loss of revenue due to the repeal of the transportation tax, insurance and various excise taxes, was materially offset by the increased revenue for 1923 from tobacco manufacturers and from automobiles, the report states.

Two Cities Are Destroyed; Land Is Devastated

(By The Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Every report received from Japan throughout the day either confirmed or increased estimates of the havoc wrought in death and destruction by the quadruple catastrophe which has befallen the central eastern section of the Honshu, largest of the islands of the Japanese empire.

Beginning at noon Saturday with a series of earthquakes which razed most of the city of Tokio and large sections of Yokohama and other cities in the vicinity, the disaster was continued by fire which broke out in scores of places; tidal waves followed, engulfing and washing into the sea hundreds of buildings. Then came a typhoon, adding a final and tragic touch to what is probably the greatest calamity in modern times.

Topping all previous estimates of death and ruin Ujio Oyama, Japanese consul general in San Francisco, late today received from Shichitaro Yachi, Japanese consul general in Shanghai, a report that 160,000 persons were killed or injured and one million made homeless in the Tokyo-Yokohama section.

Former estimates from various sources had placed the casualties as high as 150,000 dead in Tokyo alone. One of the reports came from the Japanese minister of marine by way of Osaka. Other reports told of severe casualties both on land and sea.

A composite of reports depicts Tokyo and Yokohama as a scattered wilderness of mortar, bricks, and stone where stood some of the state's tallest structures of the empire. Dead and dying are on every hand. Survivors, who can grope their way about through the fire and smoke and rubbish are leaving the city for places of safety.

Those who still live are threatened with starvation and many are trying to catch fish from ponds and lakes tide than over until food arrives. It is estimated that at least 100,000 tons of rice alone are needed to meet the food shortage.

The imperial place which was badly damaged by quake and fire has been thrown open to needy and injured survivors.

What happened at Yokohama can be barely more than surmised. But every report, though meagre, confirms the worst fears. While it is certain some of the foreign residents' quarters escaped, it is estimated 1,400 buildings in the city were destroyed. The number of dead is countless. An officer of the steamship London Maru, reported that bodies were scattered everywhere on the beach and that the sea was a sea of blood.

How extensive the quake was cannot be accurately stated. It is known to extend as far south as the Izu peninsula on the east coast, about 100 miles south of Tokyo.

A message by cable from Kobe to the Associated Press tonight said there was a bad quake in Toyama, a city of more than 60,000 population near the northwest coast of Japan, nearly 200 miles northwest of Tokyo and in Kobe, fully 350 miles southwest of Tokyo. The vibration seems to have permeated the island traversely.

In addition to the hundreds of large public and private buildings destroyed, which include a large number of Japanese government naval hospitals, arsenals, printing plants and newspaper offices, it was learned tonight through Osaka that the Italian and French embassies in Tokyo were destroyed.

Nothing has been learned of the fate of the American embassy and its staff.

Eight of Tokyo's fifteen wards are known to be almost totally wiped out, the remainder are largely in ruins or burnt over, the total number of buildings destroyed being placed at 200,000 for the city and suburbs.

In Yokohama bay and at Yokohama, a city of 70,000 on the upper reaches of Mie bay, the destruction is nearly as great, population considered, as it is in Tokyo.

Reports came today of new quakes centering in Yokohama, yesterday afternoon doing great damage especially to ships. It is known that Saturday's quakes and subsequent tidal waves did great damage to Japanese naval vessels.

The extent of the damage, however, is not determined.

The quake yesterday, today's report said, destroyed the telephone exchange at Chojamachi, killing 40 operators. At 10 o'clock last night new quakes shook Kawaguchi, destroying 500 houses and damaging 1,500 more. Other places where destruction was complete or nearly so as a result of Saturday's quakes, are:

Nagoya, with a population of 620,000. "Virtually destroyed," Sasako, 600, perished when railway tunnel collapsed; 500 houses washed away; Hakone, famous mountain resort, frequented by foreigners "easier to count the dead than the living"; Enoshima, "picture island" submerged; "a sea of mud"; Oshima, volcano emitting smoke; Odawara, swept by a tidal wave. Other volcanoes in the island nearby are reported active.

The rich and titled suffered along with the poor and the obscure. When the first shock came, a session of Japanese leaders and statesmen was being held in the naval club for the purpose of selecting a new cabinet to take the place of that of the late Premier Kato, which resigned when the premier died. Although the building collapsed the leaders who survived, adjourned to another building and completed the cabinet which was announced in Associated Press reports today.

While the Emperor and Empress are reported safe at Nikko, a resort Prince Yamashina and Princess Kaya, of the highest nobility are reported dead. Prince Masayoshi Matsumata, former premier and keeper of the Privy seal, has died from injuries, according to a report from the Nagoya railway bureau by way of Nagasaki.

A large colony of foreign missionaries at Karuizawa has escaped. It was learned.

While survivors are uniting in emergency in rescue and relief work under the discipline of martial law promulgated by Premier Yamamoto, the world outside Japan began to rush to the scene of the disaster with every available facilities of assistance.

The United States and British navies have rushed ships from Chinese and Philippine waters to Yokohama to aid in the rescue as far as possible. The American ships, it was reported, have been stationed at advantage points to relay wireless messages connected with the rescue work. Red Cross units in the Philippines and China have been ordered to Tokyo.

DECLINE OF WORKERS
DETROIT, Sept. 3.—The reports of the Employers' Association here for the last week shows a decline of 327 workers as compared with an increase of 2,380 last week. Total employment is estimated at 327,000 compared with a high mark last May of 344,000.

To Avenue Death of Husband With Constitution of U. S.

SALLY CHAMBERS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 4.—Sally Chambers, 23-year-old widow of a miner killed two years ago, is going back into McDowell county to live with her husband.

Waka Ler she will take not a gun, but knowledge newly acquired, and the spirit of the Constitution of America.

Ed Chambers, Mingo county deputy sheriff, was shot down while with Waka Ler, as he stood unarmed on the steps of the Welch courthouse. His girl-wife was behind him. He died in her arms.

At that time she knew little, as books go. But she realized that her one hope of vengeance lay in her acquisition of knowledge. She studied hard. And she learned much.

"Now," Sally Chambers says grimly, "I'm going back and I intend to carry the Constitution with me. If the miners and operators of the coal regions will abide by the provisions of the Federal Constitution the trouble will end. There will be no more bloodshed, no more threats of death and intimidation.

"I shall devote my life to reinstating law and order to my native hills and I intend to accomplish that aim by appealing to the civilized sections of America."

League Fails To Prevent Outbreak

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Will the League of Nations, designed to preserve peace by force, compel a pact of non-interference in the clash between Italy and the League already has failed to prevent an outbreak of hostilities, because "Italy," realizes the League is not functioning," according to Henry Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey under the Wilson administration and a leading defender of the covenant. The only question remaining, therefore, is whether the League can prevent the outbreak of hostilities.

Friends of the League admit that it is facing its supreme test up to date in this affair. There have been numerous wars since the League came into existence which the League has failed to prevent or to stop, once they were begun. The elaborate machinery for averting and halting wars set up by the covenant never was set in motion by the League Council.

One reason given for this failure was that in every case one of the parties to the conflict was not a member of the League and it was difficult, therefore, to effect an adjudication, although the covenant provides a precise procedure in such cases. It also was urged that all of the controversies in these wars were merely continuations of the great war and could not be approached disinterestedly by the allied powers which dominate the League council.

Neither of these reasons for failure to function applied to the Greece-Italian affair. It is a brand new dispute, unrelated to the world war. Both parties to the controversies are members not only of the League but of the League's Council.

Italy is charged with violating the covenant already, for leading a military force to Greece, in violation of Article 12, "the members of the League agree that if there should arise between them any dispute likely to lead to rupture, they will submit the matter either to arbitration or to inquiry by the Council and they agree in no case to resort to war until three months after the award by the arbitrators or the report by the council." Greece has appealed to the League but Italy denies the jurisdiction of the League.

Article 13 declares that "The extent and nature of reparation to be made" for breach of international law is subject to arbitration and the council is obligated to "propose what steps shall be taken to give effect" to the award.

Greece has complied with Article 15 which provides that "If there should arise between members of the League any dispute likely to lead to a rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration in accordance with Article 13, the members of the League agree that they will submit the matter to the council. Any party to the dispute may effect such submission by giving notice of the existence of the dispute to the secretary general who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof."

Under Article 15 the council is obligated to endeavor to effect a settlement and if the members of the council exclusive of the parties to the dispute unanimously report a settlement, the members of the League agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with the recommendation of the report.

Italy, though having occupied three Greek islands and killed Greek nationals with military forces, denies having committed an act of war in violation of Article 15 which provides that "should any member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants under Articles 12, 13 or 15 it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the League, will relegate the League to the performance of the kinds of acts they have performed, but that they will not be the dominating force for peace or in European politics. The only member of the League that could do anything effectively is Great Britain. She has the fleet that could intimidate Italy. But she is not going to do that."

At the same time there is no concealing the fact that this seizure has strengthened a suspicion in some quarters that Italy may have a ulterior object in bottling up the Adriatic in the seizure of Corfu.

So far no arrangements have been made for Prime Minister Baldwin to return to England from his holiday at Aix les Bains. Undoubtedly, if the situation becomes more serious he will return, but it is placed out that he is in close touch with Rome, which now is the center of the situation, and he is in constant touch by telephone and telegraph.

CITY GOVERNMENT COST ANNOUNCED

By GEORGE H. MANNING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Petersburg's city government was conducted last year at a cost to each inhabitant of the city of $33.59, according to figures just made public by the U. S. Census Bureau.

Reports previously published for the cost of municipal government in other cities of Virginia show that the residents of Norfolk paid an average of $20.35 for their latest year. Roanoke, $35.13, Portsmouth, $34.51, and Newport News $28.33.

The total cost of the city government of Petersburg for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923 was $1,544,864. Of this the average per capita cost, $30.70 went for the expenses of the general departments of the city, $2.33 for the expenses of public service enterprises, $4.34 for payments of interest on the city's debt, and $2.22 for outlays for permanent improvements.

The total revenue receipts for 1922 were $895,185, or $27.60 per capita making a per capita excess of governmental costs over revenue receipts of $7.99.

Property taxes represented 62.9 per cent of the total revenue receipts of the city, the average per capita being $17.37. Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city made up 9.7 per cent of the total and business and non-business licenses 10.7 per cent. The net indebtedness of the city of Petersburg in 1922 was $70.61 per capita.

The assessed valuation of property subject to ad valorem taxation for the city corporation was $42,235,495 and the levy for all purposes $786,360.

GREECE SOUNDS OUT BELGRADE

(By Chicago, Tribune Service); BELGRADE, Sept. 3.—The newspaper Novosti announces that the Greek government has made advance to the Jugo Slav foreign office sounding out Belgrade's attitude towards the Italian-Greek crisis. The League of Nations expressed or un-answer was that Jugo-Slavia will remain strictly neutral, any other attitude being considered eminently dangerous to the entire Balkans. The King, premier Pachich, and Foreign Minister Nitchich all are returning to Belgrade within a few days to view the seriousness of the situation, the Novosti says. Reports from Rome declare the Italian-Serbian Commission on the Fiume question have agreed to new terms for the Fiume regime. The foreign office here does not confirm such a report, and likewise does not confirm a report from Rome that Premier Mussolini has given Jugo Slavia fifteen more days to come around to the Italian terms.

Busy Lines!

When you call by telephone for a number and the operator reports, "The line is busy," this does not necessarily mean that the person you are calling is actually talking.

It may mean that someone else is calling for the same number and the operator has put up the connection and is in the act of ringing the telephone; it may mean that the receiver of the telephone you are calling has been left off the hook; perhaps it may mean, if the telephone you are calling is on a party line, that some one of these things has happened, not to the telephone you want, but to the OTHER TELEPHONE on the line or that the person at this other telephone is holding a conversation.

If, therefore, in calling for someone, you receive a "Busy" report and that person afterwards tells you that he was not using the telephone at that time, please don't conclude that the operator gave you a false report; it may have been due to some of the causes mentioned above.

Prolonged conversations, of course, contribute greatly to "Busy" lines. It will help us to give better service if lengthy conversations are avoided, PARTICULARLY IF EITHER TELEPHONE IS ON A PARTY LINE.

It will also be helpful if persons calling will wait a reasonable time after receiving a "Busy" report before making the call again.

Virginians and Greensboro Split; Capitals Win

Grandstand Gaff

Lead Lessened.
While Danville was splitting with the Carrolls, Raleigh was taking both the morning and afternoon games from Durham with the result that the Virginians now hold only a three and one-half game lead over Duke University's Capitals. The Piedmont series resembles that of the Giants and Reds in the National. Danville's percentage hangs around .600 as does the Capitals' and these pesky Capitals are about as dangerous as the Cincinnati Reds.

It Was A Pity.
With 2,200 fans looking on and expanding their lungs for a Virginia victory it certainly was a pity the Murphys played one of their weakest games of the season. A victory over Greensboro creates joy among Danville followers and it might be the least bit. But all the heavy hitting seemed to have departed in Trexler's eight bases and Resco's homer in the morning tussle. The usually brilliant fielding Tobacconists were far from brilliant, especially Leard, while on the other hand the Greensboro defense was working in good form with the exception of two bobbles by Magrann.

Jerry and Bob.
Jerry Jackson who has been on the inactive list for a dozen or more days returned to the Carroll fold with a vim. He was miserably with his assesting and had the hottest hitting Murphy popping up to the lead. Bob Phillips popped up to the lead. Bob Phillips popped up to the lead. Bob Phillips popped up to the lead.

Second Sackings.
When the Carrolls and Virginians get together the two best second sackings in the loop meet each other—and there will be no question as to Leard and Teague being the best. Yesterday was a great day for Jerry Jackson who had Leard's out-of-the-teague while Bill Leard's out-of-the-teague made a great stop and throw behind the keystone cushion and was on a rampage with his stick. The guardian of Greensboro's keystone cushion secured three safeties out of five appearances, one of which went for a pair of bases.

Regrettable Incident.
Herb Murphy played the game cleanest on the field and all he asks from his supporters is a similar kind of backing. Even the biggest hearted fan in the city knows it is a hot and bitter fight from beginning to end when the Carrolls hit the city, but let it be a gentlemanly rivalry and not the kind that promotes the heaving of pop bottles and disrespectful language. A pop bottle came out of the bleachers and fell near Carroll yesterday, while the Greensboro pilot was nabbing a foul behind third. It may have been only a happen-so and it might not have been, but nevertheless Murphy and the majority of the fans regret the incident. It brings joy to the Danville fandom to see Greensboro go down in defeat but such ill-mannered breaks are not supported in the least by those who really have the club's success at heart.

Morning Tilt.
Sam Fair Crews, according to his Hiram Cornsattel strike rightly dubbed the "rube" was chased to the dugout in the sixth inning of the morning tussle by the extra long wallop of the Virginians. In the fourth Trexler an this timber ambled up and bunched a good piece of horsehide over the wall only to have "Big Gawge" Resco follow suit with a hefty clout over center. Trexler batted out two double-deckers in addition to his circuit clout while Rescan, Dorman and Smith were also in the willows to an advantage. The Carrolls secured nine safeties off "Lefty" Wilson, but the southpaw's usual cool work in the pinches saved him from a defeat.

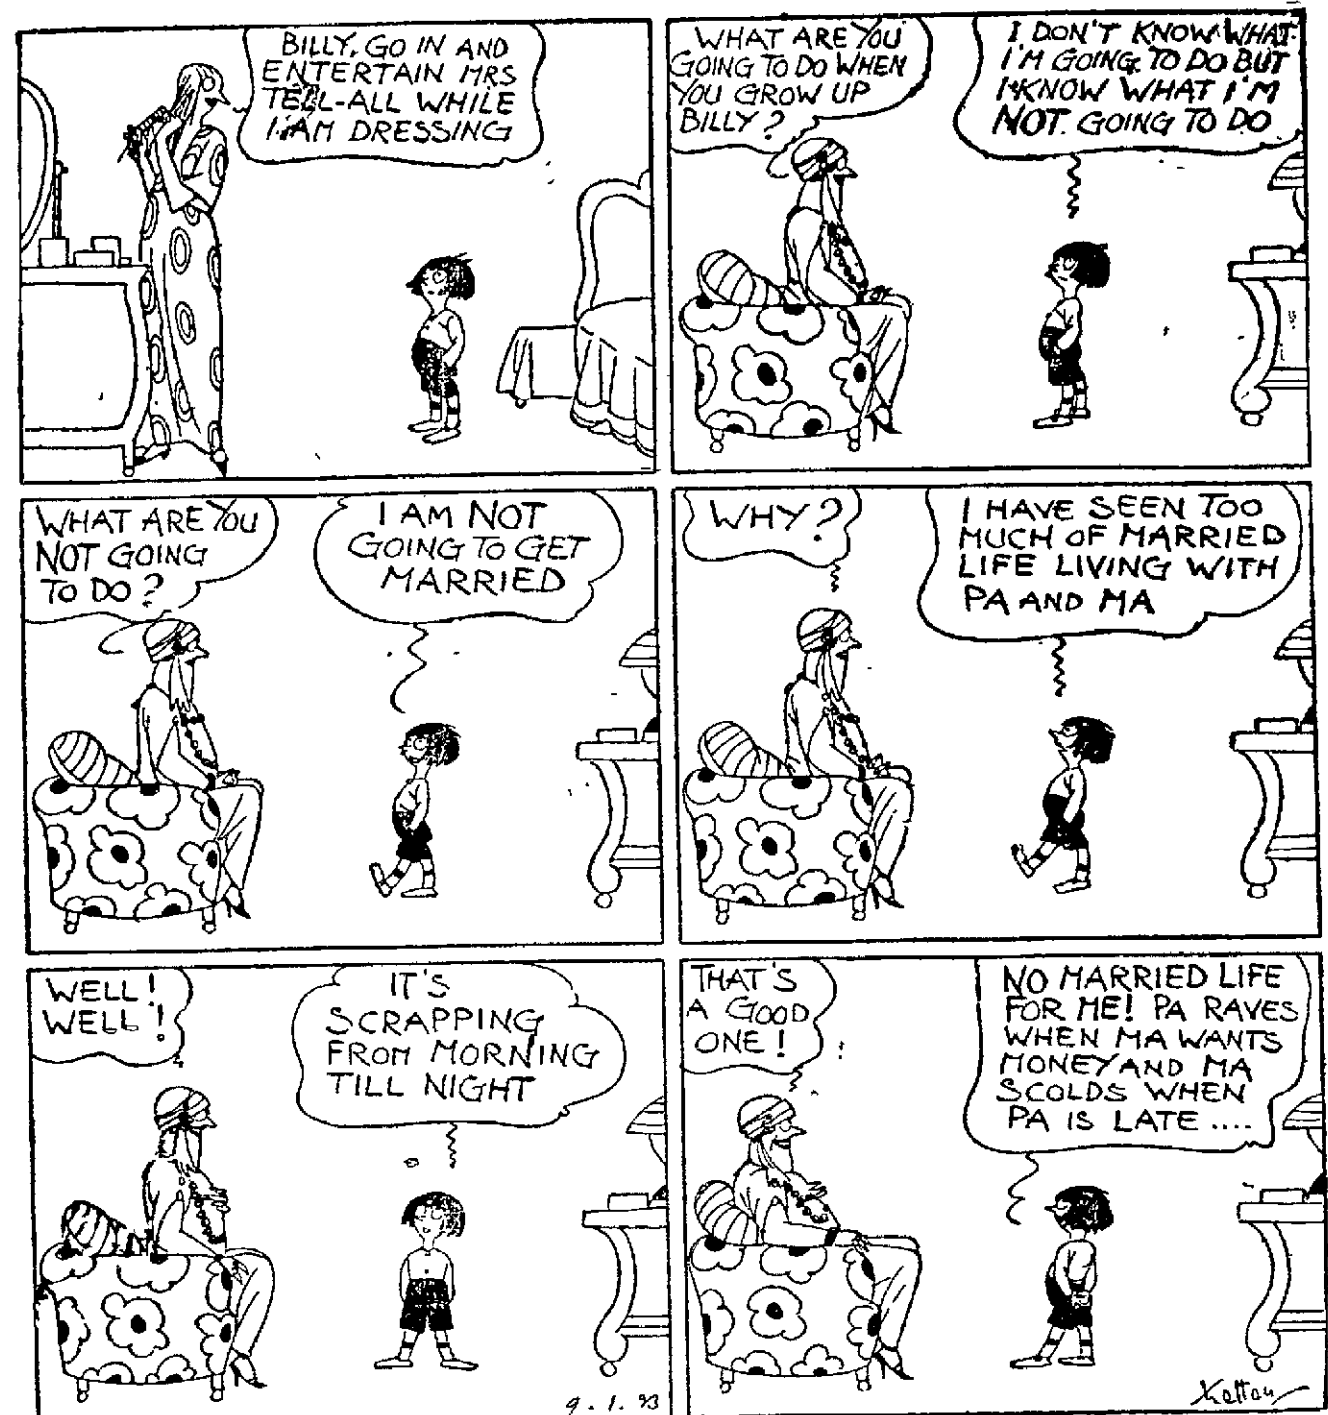

Go Get 'Em Bulls.
Raleigh ran away with the after-breakfast game in the Old North State capital, but the Bulls forced the Danicans into extra frames before a victory could be turned during the afternoon. Goosch's men met the Raleighs three more straight games and it is to be hoped Goosch Whitted, Butts and the rest of the Bovine herd can put a crimp into the winning stride of the Capitals.

Labor Day Activities.
Promoter Moody successfully entertained a goodly crowd with his wrestling and boxing program last night at Park Springs. The Temple-Mayo bout was an entertaining affair while the mat work of Holt and Honecutt was of the best variety. The prelims were as preliminary as usually are. The Danville pugilist has a good future before him should he stick to amateur circles while Young Holt should be a headliner once his speed and natural ability are properly brought out.

The Week's Bill.
Greensboro plays the Murphys here again today and the Virginians journey back to Greensboro for two games Wednesday and Saturday. On Friday and Saturday each and his Bovines are in the city.

FOOD AND DOCTORS.
(By The Associated Press.)
PEKING, Sept. 3.—Six United States destroyers left the port of Dairen for Yokohama this afternoon carrying a number of doctors and large quantities of food supplies to aid the earthquake victims in the stricken city. The flagship Huron of the Asiatic fleet picked up Admiral Anderson at Chefoo and it proceeded to Japan. The Japanese legation issued a statement to the effect that the foreign offices at Tokyo had burned. No other authentic news has been received from the stricken area although it is rumored there are ten thousand deaths in Yokohama.

(By The Associated Press.)
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Sept. 3.—Bob Garcia, of Camp Holabird, champion featherweight of the third field corps won a referee's decision over Red Leonard of Newport News, in ten thrilling rounds of fighting at the Soldiers Home, near here, this afternoon before the biggest crowd that ever witnessed a bout on the peninsula. The weights were announced at 135 pounds each. In the semi-final Eddie Burkbrook of camp Holabird knocked out Sator Ritchie in the sixth round of their scheduled ten round bout. They were welterweights. In the other bouts, Charlie Holman, aspirant for the world's bantamweight title knocked out Johnnie Cousins of Langley field in the fifth round and Louie Keith of this city knocked out Jimmy Myers of Langley field in the first round.

WHITE, DRIVING LEE WORTHY IS WINNER OF TROT
(By The Associated Press.)
HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 3.—Lee Worthy, driven by Ben White, won the feature of the opening day's grand circuit program at Charter Oak Park this afternoon, taking the free-for-all trot from Char Worthy, the Great Volo and Escotillo in straight heats. In the first heat the winner was forced to race home in one minute flat in order to offset the rush of Char Worthy.

The Bengal won his first race, with Allan Wilson, former president of the Bay State short-ship circuit in the sulky. In the third heat, after getting away badly, the Bengal raced through his field and went to the half in one minute three quarters second, going the first quarter in 30 3/4 seconds and the second in exactly 30 seconds. A bad break by Ethelinda in the second heat gave Revena Dillon second money in the three year old trot. Ethelinda was in the class of youngsters in the other two heats.

PAID ADMISSIONS TO RECENT BALL GAMES
Manager Murphy last night announced the paid admissions to Stonehill Jackson park for Saturday and Monday. On Saturday there were 1550 paid admission. Yesterday there were 1,725. This is an excellent index of the number of people who have been attending the ball games recently.

Danville Cops First And Loses Second

An off day for Leard, who has played so brilliantly for Danville since joining the team, tells for the most part, the story of the defeat of the Tobacconists yesterday afternoon by the alleged Patriots, the score being 8 to 2. Contributing factors which loomed large and persistently throughout the game were the failure of the Murphys to connect with Jackson's benders.

Jackson has pitched here a number of times this summer and always with indifferent success, up to and not including yesterday. The attentioned brother of Joe—Socless Joe—was there with the goods yesterday, only five hits being secured by Danville, and three of the five were very scratchy.

On the other hand the visitors secured 13 hits off Maitland. But even with that number of hits it is doubtful if the visitors would have won if Leard had not erred twice in the sixth, when the Carrolls secured five runs and a commanding lead. It was really Maitland's first lost game, though he had another lost scored against his record, when he pitched to only two men, one of them securing a home run.

It's usually an ill-omen for Danville to take the lead and that is what was done yesterday. In the very first inning after holding the visitors scoreless in the initial frame, the Tobacconists scored once. Dorman was out at first, but Leard was walked and on a hit and run signal with Smith, who singled through short, went to third on the play, scoring on Trexler's out at first.

The locals' last scoring came in the fifth. Murphy was safe on Magrann's error, was sacrificed to second by Kearney, went to third on Maitland's out at first, and scored on Dorman's single.

The visitors scored first in the third. Jackson led off with a single. Shay struck out Jackson was out at second on Carroll's roller, the roller, the latter being safe at first. Carroll scored and scored on O'Hara's two bagger.

In the fourth another run was scored by Greensboro, two hits and two walks being responsible. However, the big inning of the Carrolls was the fifth. Conley led off with a fly to Dorman. Pierre was walked and by the bye he was walked four out of five times at the bat, despite the fact that he is a weak hitter—Magrann was safe on Leard's error. Pierre going to second, Jackson attempted to sacrifice, but hit sharply to Gibson who threw Magrann out at second, Jackson being safe at first and Pierre going to third. Shay then singled and Pierre homered in Carroll's error.

The visitors scored another run in the eighth on a walk and a two-bagger by Teague. In the seventh inning Kearney lifted a high fly to Carroll who had to go close to the left field bleachers to get the ball. While he was making the play some ill-mannered ruffian in the bleachers threw a pop bottle at him. The aim was poor or else the miscreant did not have the nerve to hurl with better aim and Carroll was not touched, but it was a mighty poor exhibition of sportsmanship, and certainly the better element feel ashamed that the incident should have occurred.

DANVILLE WINS MORNING GAME BY 6 TO 1 SCORE
GREENSBORO, N. C., Sept. 3.—Centering their attack on the twisters of Sam Fair Crews, debuffed the "Rube" in the fourth and fifth innings, they knocked out a pair of homers, three double deckers and a single and sacrifice hit which spelled five runs and then getting a pair of bingles in the seventh frame off Doc Ferris for an additional marker, Danville galloped over the gutta perch half dozen times here this morning while the Patriots annexed a home run, that coming as the result of a home run smash by Crews in the third inning.

Wilson had a great deal of stuff on the ball and while he was tapped for nine safeties during the morning combat his shoos were baffling to the locals when men were perched on stations. Wilson was never in danger of being overhauled. On the other hand, Crews was wrapped in the fourth and fifth innings, followed by a circuit drive over the centerfield fence by Resco. Regan then doubled, went to third on an error out an scored on Cochlin's sacrifice fly.

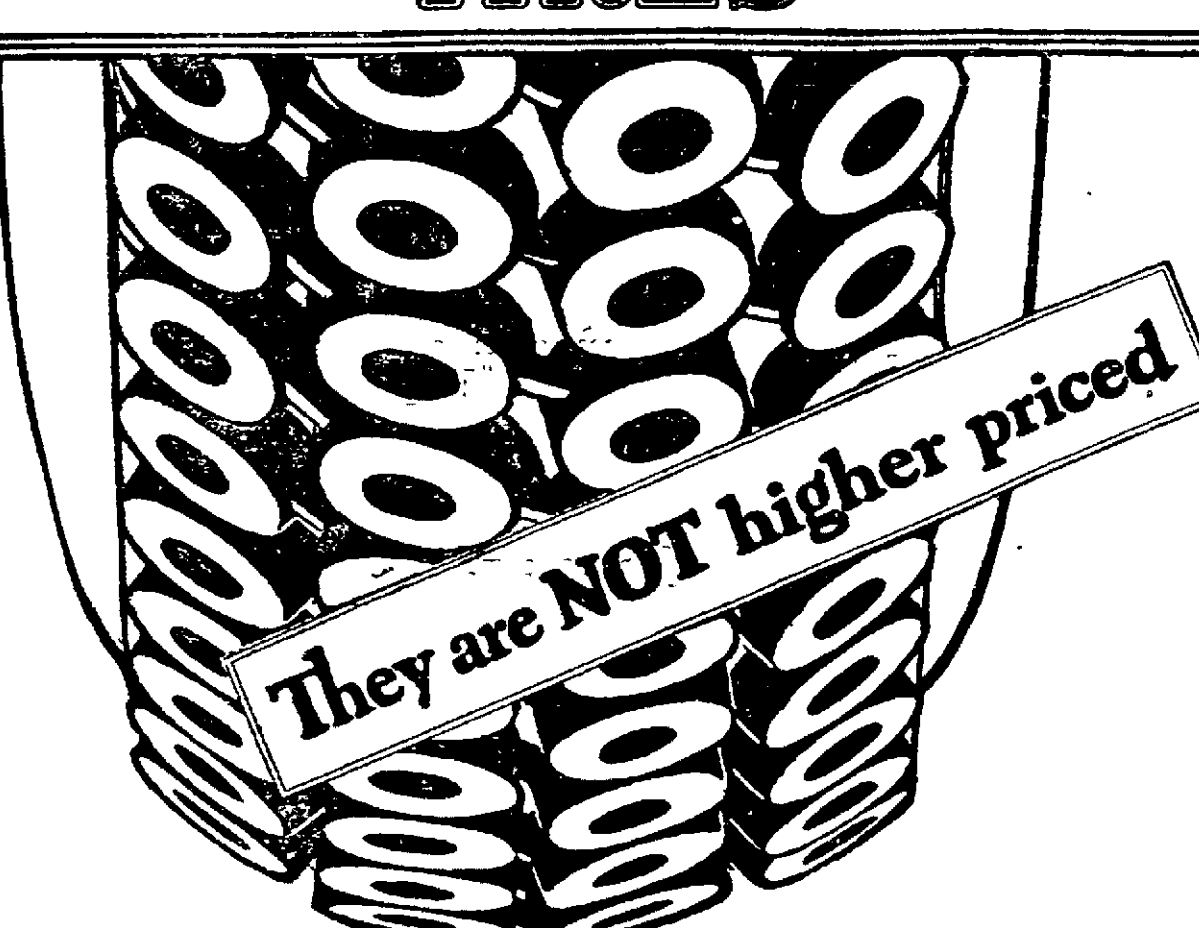

Dorman and Leard had a big day in the field, both playing sensationally, however, the spotlight fell on Dorman.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

"BUNK" SATIRE ON SECOND-RATERS IN ART AND SCIENCE

DEAN REVIEWS

"BUNK" by W. E. Woodward (Harper).
"TINKER, TAILOR" by A. P.
Herbert (Doubleday, Page).
"THE POINTED TOWER" by Vance Thompson (Bobbs-Merrill).

BY JAMES W. DEAN
(Special to The Bee.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Take warning. Most of what follows in this column is bunk. But as the truth may be, almost everything that is written in this column from day to day and week to week is by a second-rater.

Having come to an understanding of what a second-rater is, I admit
am that without shame or penitence.
To be a second-rater is to be successful in life. Had I gone on trying to be a first-rater, as I have since the day I graduated from school, I would have come to no good end. Eventually I would have gone over the hill to the poorhouse.

I have been turned from the high-road to a first-rate life by reading
a new book called "Bunk" by W. E.
Woodward. This book is a satire on the entire cosmic scheme. Really,
I shouldn't take up valuable space with my own bunk in trying to tell about the book. It is better able to speak for itself through quotations from it.

"In America the art of advertising
has outgrown the art of creative writing. Advertising represents more clearly the spirit of the people than literature itself does. Three-fourths of the income of the magazines comes from their advertisers—consequently the advertising idea permeates the whole thing. In advertising there is no really poor people, and no mean-choly endings. Just fancy how silly an advertisement for chocolates
would be if it ended: 'And so she ate them and died.'"

"Art patron means to me someone who patronizes artists. I doubt, if there are more than half a dozen pictures in this house under 50 years of age. He doesn't buy the work of living artists, so while he may have two million dollars' worth of paintings
here, none of it is of the smallest value in encouraging living painters."

"In a world of bunk we are like people living in a powder magazine.
You strike a match, and the whole thing blows up. . . . In small quantities bunk doesn't matter, any more than a trace of explosive gas in the air matters, but when it is at the moment it is a serious thing. A catastrophe might occur without a moment's warning."

"There's a profound difference between subtlety and simplicity. But they look very much alike on the surface. The subtle mind expresses everything but its aim, the simple mind,
on the contrary, reveals its aim, but confuses everything else. We are so accustomed to indirection, vagueness
in the direct statement, in the direct line way of doing things puzzles us."

"The mental equipment of the average, educated, unthinking, middle-
